Olara In West Palm Beach Offers Residents Private Dock Amenity

by Haven Team

Many people are drawn to coastal communities primarily because of their passion for boating, but this surplus of buyer interest has made it challenging for boaters to find places to drop anchor. Since 2012, the number of registered boats in Florida has increased by 14 percent. Cities such as West Palm Beach have reported a dock shortage, causing issues for boaters living in the area. Fortunately, for prospective buyers in West Palm Beach, Olara, a luxury condominium, offers private docking space as one of its exceptional amenities.

Olara is in a prime location along the Intracoastal Waterway and the Atlantic Ocean. The development offers two acres of resort-quality indoor-outdoor amenities and six for-sale boat slips maintained by Olara's five-star concierge for residents.

Residents can also benefit from the services of Olara's dedicated yacht concierge, along with access to private houseboats and additional on-the-water activities. These include private yacht charters, catamaran scuba and snorkel tours, fishing excursions, and day trips on the water. If you have no interest in renting a boat or utilizing the building's boat slips, Olara offers various water sport activities such as paddleboards, floating tubes, kayaks, and more.

These waterfront features are pivotal for prospective buyers who may be struggling to find space for their watercraft. In addition to boating amenities, Olara has standout residences and a vast range of additional amenities, such as an expansive fitness space and a private dining room.
